LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1936

NEW SERIES NO 26

ODK INITIATION SERVICES HELD FOR SIX MEN

Banquet Follows Ceremonies; Members Hear Horlacher, McIntyre and McKenney

SPENCER RESPONDS FOR NEW MEMBERS

Former Kernel Editor John F. Day Speaks on Behalf of ODK Alumni

Initiation ceremonies for six men were held last night in the Rose room of the Phoenix hotel by Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity.

Those who were inducted were: Dick Butler, Lexington, Sigma Chi, selected for outstanding work in social service; Roger Brown, Ashland, Alpha Tau Omega, selected for outstanding work in social service; Granville Byrne Brooksville, Sigma Nu, selected for outstanding scholarship; Reginald Rice, Princeton, Delta Tau Delta, for outstanding work in the dramatic field; George M. Spencer, Beattyville, Phi Sigma Kappa, for outstanding work in publications; and Gene Myers, Harlan, Lambda Chi Alpha, chosen for outstanding athletic achievement.

Following the initiation, the customary banquet was held. Prof. R. D. McIntyre of the College of Commerce, acted as toastmaster for the affair and introduced John McKenney, president of the local chapter, who gave a welcoming address to the new members and alumni. The response was delivered by the new men by George M. Spencer, editor-in-chief of the Kernel, and for the alumni by John F. "Sunny" Day, of the Lexington Leader staff and a former Kernel editor. The principal address was delivered by Dean L. J. Horlacher of the College of Agriculture.

Nu chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa was founded on the University campus in 1925. Membership in the organization is obtained through points of varying value given for outstanding work in campus activities.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the initiation and banquet was composed of Tom Nichols and William Pell.

Senior Committees Are Appointed by Class President

The senior Ring and Invitation Committee and the Senior Ball Committee were appointed today by Richard Harvey Butler, president of the senior class. Each committee is composed of five seniors.

The Ring and Invitation Committee is composed of Everett Melcalf, chairman, Charles Ryan, Sherrill M. Smith, Western Furr, and Mary Neal Waldon. The Senior Ball Committee is composed of Will Wasson, chairman, John Toohy, Donald Luques, Robert Forsythe, and Hazel Brown.

FUNKHOUSER TO MEETING

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, of the department of zoology, will attend, during the Christmas holidays, a meeting of the American Association of Science in Atlantic City, N. J., representing the University. Dr. Funkhouser is a member of executive committee of the Entomological Society of America, one of the organizations affiliated with the association.

Explanation: Space and Limitations

The Kernel desires to take this opportunity not only to thank its advertisers who have used its columns so generously, but also to explain that this pre-holiday edition lacks ability to exploit its offerings because of necessarily limited space in its printing plant and in its editorial quarters.

This lack, it is happy to explain, is not because of indifferent business, but rather because The Kernel this session has virtually outgrown its quarters.

These conditions, however, it hopes, shall be obviated as soon as completion of the new campus central heating plant releases space already designated to meet our mechanical expansion.

Senator Barkley Is Initiated Into Legal Fraternity

Five Students Also Inducted Into Local Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta

Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and five students of the College of Law were inducted into Phi Alpha Delta, national honorary legal fraternity at annual fall initiation ceremonies held Tuesday afternoon at the Lafayette hotel.

Senator Barkley, who was initiated as an honorary member, made a brief talk at a banquet which followed the ceremonies. Honor guests at the banquet were Eldon Dummit, former state commander of the American Legion; Prof. William Pittman of the College of Law; and John Y. Brown, former congressman from Kentucky. Dean Alvin Evans of the College of Law also spoke at the affair.

Those initiated were C. C. Wells, Hazard; Henry Wall, Paducah; T. J. Marshall, Frankfort; Woodrow Kirkpatrick, Frankfort; and Ben B. Wright, Cadiz.

E. S. Campbell, Paris, justice of the local chapter, was toastmaster at the banquet and presented Senator Barkley. Other officers of Henry Clay chapter are H. O. Whitlow, Kevil, vice-president, and J. S. Freeland, Paducah, acting treasurer. Phi Alpha Delta was the first legal fraternity to be organized on the campus, having been founded in 1914. Among its alumni are senators and congressmen, justices of the court of appeals, federal judges, and others prominent in the legal profession.

Plans Completed For Student Union

Will Be Submitted to State WPA Board Within Ten Days

The final plans for the new Student Union building probably will be submitted within the next ten days to the state director of the Work Progress Administration at Louisville, it was announced by Dean Hiram Graham, chief engineer of the University building program, Tuesday.

Bids on the Student Union building will be advertised for by the middle of January, it is hoped. It was also announced that bids on the new law building will be received December 23.

Present plans for the building, as announced by President Frank L. McVey at a convocation, last Friday, call for a three story structure costing approximately $200,000. It will be located between the Alumni gymnasium and Frazer hall. Included in the building will be lounging rooms, recreation rooms, locker rooms, game rooms, a cafeteria, soda grill, dance floor, and offices.

Dr. McVey also announced that a clerk would be on duty at all times in the administration department and that offices for the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., the Kentucky, and other student organizations will be located there.

OFFICES RENOVATED

Two rooms on the ground floor of Kastle hall are in the process of renovation and are being converted into a library, laboratories, and offices for the bacteriology department. The rooms were until now used as a chemistry stock room. The equipment of the stock room was moved to the old boiler room on the ground floor.

Unfortunate Reigns of "Edwards" As English Kings Are Traced

By THEO NADDELSTEIN
We think that the former Edward VIII has troubles — but he has nothing on all the other Edwards who have ruled England! There must be a jinx attached to the name of Edward in connection with the throne of England, for none of them has had any fun being King — from the first one down to the last.

The first one, Edward the Martyr, whose brief reign was marked by dissension in the country on ecclesiastical matters, was assassinated in 978. Edward the Confessor, whose coronation was delayed for a year, fell into constant difficulties with the head of his government, who disliked the King's friendliness with foreigners, and finally forced the King to accept his rule.

Edward the First met with much clerical and baronial opposition during his reign, and failed in the vain ambition of his life, which was to conquer Scotland. Edward the Second was forced to submit

McVey Extends Christmas Greetings

DR. FRANK L. McVEY

GREETINGS to the Students of the University of Kentucky. Carry to your homes the good wishes of the University for all who dwell therein. May this holiday season mean more to friends and relatives than usual because of the return of goodly sons and lovely daughters. For yourselves, I wish a pleasant and interesting time interspersed with rest. The real spirit of Christmas is yours to make a part of yourselves.

FRANK L. McVEY,
Pres. of the University.

VARIOUS BIDS ARE ANNOUNCED

Five Companies Bid on Fixtures Necessary in New Engineering Unit; Board To Consider on Dec. 23

Officials of the University building program made public Tuesday bids for electrical supplies for the engineering units and the central heating plant.

The Board of Trustees will meet December 23 to consider these bids, which include those for direct lighting fixtures and lamps for the south and east engineering units, for mercury vapor lamps, direct lighting fixtures for corridors, a feed water heater for the central heating plant, and for mineral wool insulation for the engineering units.

Those companies who entered bids for direct lighting fixtures were the General Electric Supply company, Cincinnati, $1,796.03; Greybar Electric company, Cincinnati, $1,803.58; F. D. Lawrence Electric Supply company, Cincinnati, $1,787.20; and Johnson Electric Supply company, Cincinnati, $1,795.23.

Bids for indirect mercury vapor lamps were entered as follows: General Electric, $526.44; Greybar, $501.00; and F. D. Lawrence, $504.00. The same firms also bid for indirect lighting fixtures, in order, respectively, as follows: $924.85, $1,030.00, $841.00, and $877.35. The General Electric bid of $842.40 was the same as that presented by the F. D. Lawrence Electric for direct lighting fixtures for corridors. The Henry P. Thompson company of Cincinnati bid $3,497.00 for the feed water heater for the central heating plant, while Worthington Pump & Machinery, Harrison, N. J., bid $31,412.00.

SPEAKER ANNOUNCED

Dr. Harry E. Barnes, editorial writer for the Scripps-Howard chain and a foremost authority on American history, will be one of the featured lecturers at the 1937 Summer Session, according to an announcement made by those in charge of the program. Doctor Barnes has compiled more than 20 books on American history and is also known for his pioneer work in historical sociology. He was formerly a professor of history at Clark University, Worcester, Mass.

UK Featured On National Farm, Home Program

Present Varied Program Including Address by Doctor McVey

Featuring talks by President F. L. McVey and Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College of Agriculture, a dramatization of the history of the University of Kentucky, and vocal and orchestral selections by members of the student body, the University of Kentucky presented the twelfth in a series of Land Grant college radio programs on the National Farm and Home Hour over the National Broadcasting Company nationwide hook-up, from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. Wednesday at the University studios.

The program opened with musical selections by the University radio symphony orchestra, under the direction of Russell McKisley, and the singing of "On, On, U. of K." by the "Ambassadors," student male quartette. Following this, President McVey briefly reviewed the history of the University as a land grant college. Dean Cooper then discussed the growth of the College of Agriculture and present benefits to Kentucky and the nation.

The Microphone Players of the University, a student group under the direction of George Jesse, completed the program with a 30-minute dramatization of the history of the University from the time of its separation from Transylvania College, through its progress under President Patterson, and, since 1917, under President McVey.

The program, emanating from the University studios, was relayed to Chicago and sent out over a national network of 96 stations. Everett Mitchell, chief announcer for the Chicago division of NBC, supervised and announced the program.

Sigma Xi Honors Four New Members

Delegates Are Appointed for 1937 Convention at Atlantic City

Kentucky chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary national research fraternity, elected four graduate assistants of the University staff to associate memberships at a meeting of the organization held Wednesday evening in the Civil Engineering and Physics building. Approximately 40 persons attended the meeting.

Those who were honored were: H. T. Shacklette, graduate assistant, department of botany; Emma McClanahan, graduate assistant, department of botany; Grace Birge, graduate assistant, department of anatomy and physiology; and E. B. Tucker, graduate assistant in the department of zoology.

A report of the national convention of Sigma Xi held recently at Cornell University was made by Dean W. D. Funkhouser of the Graduate school. Dr. Funkhouser also presented a replica of a plaque commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the fraternity.

Dr. F. W. Warburton, Dr. W. A. Price, and Dr. W. D. Valleau were appointed delegates to the 1937 convention of the society to be held January 30 at Atlantic City, N. J. Dr. Alfred Brauer, of the department of zoology, presented a paper at the meeting entitled "Chromosomes."

Wildcats Capture Overtime Tilt From Xavier, 34-28; Face Busy Holiday Schedule

Ruppmen Stage Last-Minute Rally to Knot Count In Regular Game Time

CARLISLE SCORES EIGHTEEN POINTS

'Cats Take Commanding Lead In Five-Minute Extra Period

By JOE QUINN

In one of the wildest and most exciting games a Kentucky team has played in recent years, Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats earned a 34 to 28 decision over Xavier University, Tuesday night in Cincinnati, but not before the Musketeers had carried the battle into a five-minute overtime session.

Leading 18 to 16 at the intermission, the Wildcats fell behind rapidly as the Muskies went on a scoring spree to assume a six-point lead with less than 10 minutes to play, but a desperate scoring effort in the final few minutes brought the 'Cats into a 27-27 deadlock as the regulation game ended.

A free throw chalked up by Bernie Opper was the lone tally registered in the first three minutes of the overtime period, until Jay Walker slid in for a crisp and put the game on Kentucky ice. Carlisle and Hagan added two more shots from the floor to make the rout complete.

The Wildcats, heavy favorites to win, were constantly in hot water. The Xavier man-to-man style of defense kept the 'Cats off balance all evening and only individual offensive efforts of Carlisle, Hagan, Walker and Opper kept the local club in the ball game.

Xavier scored first on Koprowski's free throw, but Hagan's long shot put Kentucky in front. From that point on the lead see-sawed back and forth throughout the first half with the 'Cats holding the advantage at half time, 18-16.

With the opening of the final period, Xavier seemed to take on new scoring life, and with Joe Kruse contributing two field goals and Frank Kucia adding two more, the Muskies jumped into a commanding lead. With Kentucky trailing 26-20, Carlisle made one of two free tries. Walker added another, and Carlisle counted from the side with a short throw.

Koprowski interrupted the 'Cat scoring with a free throw but Hagan dribbled in for a goal from inside the foul circle and put the 'Cats a single point behind. With less than a minute to play, Carlisle was fouled and made the free throw to knot the count. Neither team could score again before the game ended.

The Wildcats seemed to settle down in the overtime period and once started, took complete command of the battle.

Ralph Carlisle, with 18 points, was the individual scoring hero, with Hagan second. Tubby Thompson, who started at center, was held scoreless, although he played but half the game.

United States. He laid particular stress on the spirit of cooperation and college loyalty shown by the students who took part in the program.

Mr. Mitchell is now concluding his sixth year as director of the National Farm and Home Hour. In addition to this program, he is the announcer for the radio sketches called "Dan Harding's Wife," and "Melodies in Romance," and was formerly announcer for the "Little Orphan Annie" series.

Official Vacation Dates Announced

Christmas holidays will officially begin at noon today and will end January 5 at 8 a. m., the registrar's office announced yesterday. There will be no extension of the holidays on account of the Wildcat-Notre Dame basketball game in Louisville as was rumored.

The office also announced that the rule setting a penalty of 1 credit hour for absence from a class the day before or after the holidays will be in effect, and students are warned to observe this rule.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE DISCUSSED

Rhodes Committee Interviews Aspirants for Award to Oxford College; U. K. Man Won Last Year

Candidates for the Rhodes Scholarship awards for Kentucky were being interviewed yesterday in the committee room of the University faculty club by members of the board of selections of Kentucky.

Interviews started at 9 o'clock and were still in progress late yesterday afternoon. Awards of Rhodes scholarships are made every year, the winners being sent to Oxford University, England. Two persons will be chosen from the candidates today, and will go to Chicago later this month to compete with candidates from five other states.

Pres. Frank L. McVey is chairman of the board for Kentucky; R. T. Taylor, LaGrange; Strother Hines, Ashland; E. R. Baltzell, Indianapolis; and Professor C. W. Williams, University of Louisville, comprise the rest of the body.

Elvis J. Stahr, graduate of the class of '36, was last year awarded a Rhodes scholarship and is now attending Oxford on funds provided by this award.

Cosmopolitan Club Feted at Banquet

Dr. H. L. Donovan, of Eastern State Teacher's college, was the principle speaker at a banquet, given Tuesday for members of the University Cosmopolitan club by the International Affairs class in the University Commons.

Mrs. Walter Allen presided and introduced Doctor Donovan. Having spent last summer in Russia, he lectured on conditions in the Soviet country. Following this talk, Mrs. Allen introduced members of the Cosmopolitan club.

The committee in charge of arrangements was composed of the following: Mrs. E. A. Bureau, chairman; Mrs. C. F. Crouse, Mrs. Adolf Bigge, Mrs. L. J. Horlacher, Mrs. R. L. Allen, Miss Louise Webb, and Miss Mae Hoover.

NBC Head Announcer Relates Experiences; Praises Kentucky

By SID BUCKLEY
And CLIFF SHAW

The mad search for broadcast material to appease the appetites of a thrill-hungry nation leads Chief Announcer for NBC's Chicago Division, Everett Mitchell, to many strange and out-of-the-way places, from the dark, damp sewers of a big city to the wind-swept roofs of its tallest towers.

In Lexington for the purpose of supervising the University of Kentucky Land Grant College program, which was broadcast on the National Farm and Home Hour over the NBC network last Wednesday, Mr. Mitchell recounted for us some of the interesting aspects of his work during his thirteen years of radio experience.

The University of Kentucky program, the twelfth of a series of land grant college programs, conducted by the National Farm and Home Hour, compared, according to Mr. Mitchell, very favorably with similar presentations throughout the

Kentucky Basketeers to Play Two Games at Home During Vacation Period

PLAYERS WILL HAVE FOUR DAYS OF REST

Three-Day Practice Session Planned at Louisville By Coach Rupp

The Kentucky basketball squad will get very little rest during the Christmas holidays, with two games scheduled at home and a three-day practice session in Louisville as part of Coach Adolph Rupp's program for his team.

The Wildcats will take the court against Centenary Monday night, in Alumni gym, in the first of their two holiday contests and, according to Coach Rupp, three sophomores will be in the starting lineup.

The Kentucky mentor plans to use "Tubby" Thompson at center and Bernie Opper and Walter Hodge in the backcourt. Hodge will replace Captain Warfield Donohue at one of the guard positions. The Paris sophomore has given three fine exhibitions in his first three starts and because of his defensive play against Xavier Tuesday night, rates a starting job against the Louisiana club.

Following the Centenary battle, the Wildcats will entrain Tuesday morning for Louisville where they will pitch camp for a three-day practice session. The 'Cats will meet Notre Dame in the Kentucky metropolis January 5, and Coach Adolph Rupp believes that the club will profit by staging their drill sessions in town for a few days.

The team will be dismissed from practice at noon, December 24, and will report again December 28, to start conditioning for the Michigan State game, to be played here January 2.

Phi Delta Kappa Holds Initiation

Five persons were initiated into the Alpha Nu chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational group for men, at 4 p. m. Sunday in the auditorium of the University Training school.

New members include Alexander Capurso, Lexington; Roy O. Chumler, Lexington; Ben B. Herr, Lexington; Nicholas W. Williams, Winchester, and George William Andrews, Pine Ridge.

After the initiation the initiates were feted at a dinner served in the Training school cafeteria. This was followed by reports of officers and delegates who recently attended a district conference of the fraternity at Indianapolis, Ind. The principal talk, "Rural Educational Problems," was delivered by J. W. Brooker, of the University's department of education.

COUNTY TEACHERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

The Fayette county teacher's association met Monday night in the auditorium of the University high school in their monthly meeting to discuss the problem of fitting instruction to the needs of the individual. A motion picture entitled "Overcoming Limitations of Learning" was shown.

Round table discussions were held by the primary, intermediate, and high school groups to discuss the question. Louis Vandell, president of the association, presided at the meeting. D. T. Davis presented the motion picture.

DEAN TAYLOR SPEAKS BEFORE HI-Y GROUP

Dean W. S. Taylor of the College of Education was the principal speaker at a banquet given by University High Hi-Y boys for the Girl Reserves group Monday night in the cafeteria of the school. More than 85 attended the affair.

Speaking on "The Qualities of a Great Man," Dean Taylor emphasized in his talk several points he thought necessary for greatness, considering such traits as courage, ability, consideration for others, energy, patience, cheerfulness, and hard work.

CHRISTMAS AT HOME

We are homeward bound for Christmas—homeward bound to spend the holidays around the fireside where we have so many times known the joys which the Yuletide brings.

Once again we will ride over the hard-packed roads, homeward to see the snow on the hedgerows and the hemlocks, drifts against the barns and stacks; to hear the crackle of frost under our feet as we plough through the snow to the old house sparkling silver in the moonlight, its chimney silently smoking in the night.

Then shall we see the merry folk gathered around a blazing fire as its leaping flames throw fleeting lights upon the brilliant of a Christmas tree, and its warmth glows through a house gay with the holiday spirit.

And Christmas Day! Merry from the morning twilight, when the children steal forth to catch a glimpse of gifts under the tree; on through the glorious morning, the bounteous dinner, to a quiet evening spent among the memories of a day filled brimful of joy.

Such is the happiness which Christmas brings. Such is the purpose which it serves, for apart from the veneration due to its sacred name and origin, and the kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant times which it brings, it also serves as a home-coming which is so important to all peoples. Throughout the world it is in these home-comings that Christmas echoes the clarion words of the Herald Angels, "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

UNIVERSITYTYPES:

The Campus Procrastinator—If he has a quiz on Monday, he waits until Sunday evening before he starts to study, and then gets sleepy and decides to go to bed and cram early on Monday. His term paper hangs over until the week before exams, and then he wastes time griping about how rushed with work he is, all at once. He always blames his profs when he's got too much to do, and to forget his worries goes to the show, muttering throughout the picture, "When am I gonna get my lessons done, anyway?" His motto is, "Do everything tomorrow that you don't HAVE to do today." He sits in the Commons and talks about how much reading he has to do in the Library...and he's always the first one to gripe about his grades!

This Campus
That World

By RALPH E. JOHNSON

PROVIDED ONE'S THREAD of life is not spun at birth, and his days are not numbered, then it is remarkable that man lives as long as he does. Daily the number of hazards successfully overcome are so numerous that one wonders that one lives through each day.

Man, the most defenseless of beasts, walks abroad and comes face to face with death at every turn. As life grows more complex it becomes more amazing. Automobiles, by the millions, roar through our streets guided by nit-wit youngsters with the thrill of speed upon them, put into irregular motion by persons whose minds are befuddled with drink, by those ambitious to cover great distances each day, by those who feel that they may save time when all they do is hurry time. Every time one steps into a car life hangs precariously in the balance. Every time one walks along sidewalks, roadways, or crosses intersections, life becomes less certain.

The death toll mounts. Man is struck with the horrors of the appalling death rate as it mounts to the proportions attained during the World War. Campaigns are waged. Good is done, yet death goes on clipping off your thread.

Automobiles are a great problem. But airplanes are adding that that instability of life. Sleeping in your own room is not so safe. A plane might careen from the heavens, crash through your hitherto shielded roof and crush out your life. That is a far-fetched chance, but people also ride in them—safely many, but hazarded always.

It has been said that the safest place on earth is aboard an ocean liner. The Morro Castle fired; the Titanic, unsinkable, sank. The Lusitania went to the bottom with many. In connection with the same statement concerning the safety of the liners, it is said that more accidents happen in bath tubs than any other place.

A trip through a cave will reveal masses of rock fallen from the ceiling. When did that fall? When will more fall? Why not right now while you are under it? But successfully you pass by and live to enjoy another hazard.

You, yourself, can think of hundreds of other close shaves that scare you half to death daily. Yet you live on. Tomorrow one may get you, but today you live through them all. Do you ever wonder why? Does it not suggest a supreme power—lording over all? But why then do you die before your three score and ten?

"He was such a fine fellow. Why did he have to go like this?" But disease, war, pestilence, accident, all take their toll of our fellow men each day. This is a precarious world in which to live. Thank Heavens you know not what will come tomorrow for tomorrow you may die. Today you are happy for you know it not. More important is today!

Propaganda defined: If a view held and expressed is opposed to yours it is propaganda.

Little Strange Interludes, in parentheses:
"My dear, you look perfectly divine tonight!" (I've never seen her looking so lousy.)

"This is straight dope." (It's a lie and I know it.)

"Now, I don't want to hurt your feelings." (Don't care if I do.)

By FRANKLIN DRYDEN

So I get the honor of writing for the Christmas issue. And that being the case what could be better than opening it with a fine, rather brief editorial by Prof. Voc Portmann which reads as follows: "Peace on earth—Phooey!"

And for a Christmas story, well, have one here that even passes the old Scrooge sage for disbelief. Charlie Vance, noted for his inaptitude for being a spendthrift, has finally broken away. This last week he lent his car to Frances Reimers for two whole days, and that's not all, folks. On one of the two days he was seen putting five gallons of gas in the tank. Ah, how the season gets you.

It was rather hard to believe the scene which took place at the dance Wednesday night. Lambda Chi Gamma, yeah, you know, that good doin' football center, was all dressed up and spent the evening dancing with one swell looking femme. After investigation it was all cleared up tho'. She is the girl from Ashland that he has kept so quiet about all semester. Are the rumors correct in that he has been married to her for the last four years? If so, congrats Gene. Don't know which of you is the luckiest.

Wonder if it would make Wanda "Mighty" Strong proud to know that her gyratics while leading cheers at the football games have inspired all the girls at a certain high school nearby. All of them want to be cheer leaders and it took two weeks to give them all a tryout and select the winners of the honor.

Queenie Lois King is now undergoing the exquisite sensations that were felt by ex-queenie Frances Woods this time last year. Every day brings letters from ardent admirers from all over the U. S. who have viewed her picture since being put on the Associated Press. The latest one is from a firm in N. Y. who will send the press account from their newspaper for the sum of thirty cents.

Query—Anyone having tickets 8459 and 8460 come around by 2 o'clock this afternoon and see me and by 3 o'clock it will be "daddy needs a pair of shoes" no more.

The Pikap romeo of past years, Tommy Conrey is in Lexington this Christmas and is losing no time getting in touch with all the young college girls. His latest is the blonde Guileys.

Seem' as how nobody reads this column anyway much, might as well stop cause it's holiday time, but before leaving, and not up the chimney, may we wish you all a merry, gossipy, and scandalous Christmas and New Year.

'CAT GRIDDERS SELECT TOUGH ALL-RIVAL TEAM

Riley, Alabama, and Dickens, Tennessee Unanimously Picked by Wynnemen

By LOUIS HAYNES

Kentucky's Wildcat gridiron gang have plenty of respect for Joe Riley, of Alabama, and Phantom Phil Dickens, of Tennessee, among others. This became evident as The Kernel compiled the 'Cat's South-eastern All-Opponent team.

Riley and Dickens, both of whom messed up the Wildcat goal-line territory the past season, won by unanimous vote as the Big Blue selected the first and second teams chosen from the squads on the Kentucky schedule.

While the majority of the grid-ders thought that Riley was the best man they played against, others thought Dickens occupied that position while still others respected the powers of Dutch Koneman, of Georgia Tech, above all others.

These three men received the quarterback and halfback positions with very little disagreement, but the fullback candidate brought in a lot of controversy. Many men picked Nisbet as their choice, but the majority selected Dougherty, of Tennessee, for the fullback post.

Turning now to the line we come on to the name of "Tarzan" White, of Alabama, chosen as the best man of the lines of the opposing teams with three or four other men running him a close race. White is a guard on this eleven and the other guard is Fitzsimmons, of Georgia Tech.

Coming to one of the key men on the team, the center, another dispute was aroused between the selection of Moye, of Alabama, and Preston, of Georgia Tech, but by a narrow margin Moye won, giving him the first team position.

Going out to the tackles there are two almost unanimous choices in Crawford, of Tennessee, and Young, of Alabama. Both of these men were outstanding tackles in their game against the 'Cats, and while other tackles played good games, these men were the best.

One end is represented by Alabama in Shoemaker, while the other end was Jones, of Georgia Tech. These men both received many high compliments for their skill. Other ends that were mentioned as particularly good were Christian, of Florida, and Porter, of Tennessee.

The selections as picked by the Kentucky team for the first and second team choices are thus:

First Team	Pos.	Second Team
Shoemaker, Ala.	E.	Porter, Tenn.
Crawford, Tenn.	T.	Lindsey, G. T.
White, Ala.	G.	Peters, Ala.
Moye, Ala.	C.	Preston, G. T.
Fitzsimmons, G. T.	G.	Hayes, Tenn.
Young, Ala.	T.	Lyons, Ala.
Jones, G. T.	E.	Christian, Fla.
Riley, Ala.	QB.	Mayberry, Fla.
Dickens, Tenn.	HB.	Kilgore, Ala.
Konemann, G. T.	HB.	Appleby, G. T.
Dougherty, Tenn.	FB.	Nisbet, Ala.

Unfortunate Reigns Of Edwards Traced

excesses, which did not, however, alienate the London citizens with whose wives he was too familiar. The tragedy of young Edward V is a well known one. Imprisoned in the Tower of London by his paternal uncle, who took over the reins of government, he was murdered with his young brother in 1483, and never was allowed to rule. Edward VI was a frail, fanatical, and stubborn child when he became King of England, and died when still quite young, leaving the country in a state of upheaval, as far as the royal succession went.

Edward VII departed from tradition when a youth, and horrified England by appearing in the witness box for a friend who had been accused of cheating at baccarat. His coronation, too, was postponed because of illness, and was held without much of the pomp and glory that ordinarily attends such a ceremony, due to this postponement.

And Edward the Eighth? Marked by the destiny which appears to pursue the kings of England and named, he has lost his throne, his title, and his power—but will probably be the happiest of them all!

NBC Announcer Praises Kentucky

arrival of the Italian air fleet, under the command of General Balbo, he climbed to the top of the ride tower, 654 feet above the ground, with a pack mule strapped to his back. In the face of an eighty-mile gale he searched for a support on the small, flat roof, and finally discovered a girder around which he wrapped his legs. From this precarious perch he described the arrival of the planes to the listening nation.

Another interesting experience occurred during the recent presidential election, when he was forced to make a 4,000 mile journey from Chicago to several cities in Oklahoma in the course of three days. His means of locomotion included plane, train, bus and truck.

In response to questions concerning his work, Mr. Mitchell stated that he had met many prominent people. He went on to say that in every case the most successful people were the easiest to meet—the only temperament being found in those who are just climbing the ladder of fame and have become egotistical over their small successes.

In conclusion we asked the inevitable question put to every prominent visitor to the University campus, "What do you think of Kentucky co-ed beauty?" His answer was that from the examples he had seen on the campus, the many books written concerning fair southern women, were not far enough, and that the tradition Kentucky has built up for possessing female beauty is certainly well founded.

Campus Is "Dead" During Holidays Says Watchman

By BILLY HOPEWELL

When you leave the campus Friday to go home to your people, will you realize what a quiet and deserted place the campus will be during the holidays? Few students will think about the University when they leave for home and few of them will care how quiet and dull it is.

"You can describe this place at Christmas time with one word—dead," stated Mr. A. L. N. Sorensen, campus night watchman, in an interview recently. "There is nothing going on here during vacation time and the campus is just like a cemetery," he continued.

In the early fall and spring the campus is almost as lively at night as it is in the day time. Some students are rarely ever seen on the grounds after nightfall, but others leave and return regularly.

Mr. Sorensen sees the busy life on the campus at night just as students view each other hurrying to and from the buildings in the day time. He says that students are crossing the campus and returning to the dormitories all through the night and up until 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning.

The busy part of the evening begins about 7 o'clock and lasts until about 8:30. Then at approximately 10:30 and 11:00 students start drifting back to the dorms and lights are seen in the residence halls far after midnight—but there will be only a few lights shining in several scattered rooms of the halls during the holidays.

Mr. Sorensen expects this Christmas vacation period to be as quiet as the preceding ones. He stated that there were only about 35 students in the dormitories during Christmas last year and he seldom saw them during the night.

"About the only people seen on the campus at night are outside visitors who appear frequently after midnight during the semester," Mr. Sorensen remarked.

The basketballers will be among the few seen on the campus owing to their scheduled game here on January 2 with Michigan State University. Other faces seen will be those of staff members and they will be here only at intervals.

McVey hall, one of the busiest buildings on the campus, both during school hours and during the evenings when banquets are served in the University commons, will be just another building standing, waiting for the return of the knowledge seekers and loafers.
